The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History - a Six in the price range of the four!

The Chevrolet Motor Company announces The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History... a Six in the price range of the four!

Spectacular as Chevrolet's achievements have been in the past... notable as its engineering triumphs have proved themselves to be... this remarkable new car dwarfs every previous Chevrolet accomplishment. Not only does it introduce into the low-priced field an entirely new measure of performance, comfort, beauty and style—but it is sold at prices so low as to alter every previous conception of motor car value.

The new six-cylinder valve-in-head engine—developed from more than a hundred motors designed especially for this sensational car—stands out as an engineering masterpiece. With a power increase of approximately 32% over the previous Chevrolet motor, with sensation greater speed and faster acceleration—it offers a type of performance that is literally astounding... even to those who have been driving cars costing hundreds of dollars more.

Throughout the entire speed range, it performs with a smoothness and quietness of operation that have never before been approached in a low-priced automobile. The slower speeds of city traffic it idles along with wonderful pump and ease. On boulevards and country roads it responds with an eagerness that is a constant delight. It takes the longest and steepest hills with a abundant reserve of power that is a source of pride to the driver. And its economy of operation averages better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline!

This revolutionary performance has been achieved as a result of the greatest array of outstanding advancement in automotive engineering ever announced. A high compression, non-detonating cylinder head... a new heavier crankshaft, statically and dynamically balanced... automatic lubrication of the entire rocker arm mechanism... semi-automatic spark control... hot-spot manifold... gasoline pump and filter... new and larger carburetor, with automatic acceleration pump and improved venturi choke... heavier differential gears... improved crankcase breathing system... improved lubrication... new 4-wheel brakes that are powerful, safe and quiet under all conditions—these indicate the importance of a group of engineering advancements that embrace every major unit of the entire chassis.

In appearance, this Outstanding Chevrolet is destined to become an automotive sensation—so smart, so stylish and so distinctively appointed that it rivals the finest custom creations. The new Fisher bodies are longer, lower and roomier with adjustable driver's seat in all closed models—and reveal the matchless artistry of Fisher designers.

THURSDAY, NOV. 29, 1929.

Of course we are thankful, but not for the Republican brand of property which does not exist in these parts.

N. Y. seems to be money mad. Stock gamblers pay 9¢ per cent on call for money to buy stock. Just how long before the crash no one knows but every one knows it must come.

President-elect Hoover is apparently enjoying his visit to South America. Hurry back and begin work on the promised farm relief measure. It will soon be too late. Prompt relief must be had Mr. President if agriculture is to be saved from utter ruin.

Thomas Fortune Ryan, of Nelson County and New York City, is dead and his remains rest in the Cathedral here built during his lifetime at Richmond, Va. His fortune is estimated to be many hundred millions and he had a number of kin people in Virginia, who will share in his wealth it is thought. Mr. Ryan was a Democrat and gave to the party liberally.

The best way of feeding the mash ration to laying hens in the farm flock, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is to keep a dry mash in self-feeding hoppers all the time and to feed limited quantities of moist mash in Y-shaped troughs every day.

Timber is a savings bank to be drawn upon by the owner in times of need. The trees are the capital or principle, and the new growth is the interest. If the timber is worked wisely and only the amount of new growth is cut, the capital will be left untouched and the investment will continue.

Our Next Fight

Soon the gubernatorial political pot will begin to simmer and just who will be the man to carry on the policies of Gov. Byrd it does not yet appear.

It is certain, however, that there is trouble ahead for the organization in the matter of primary. With a Tom-fowl law requiring, all who vote in primary to swear they voted for the party's nominees at the last preceding election, there will not be enough of the faithful and regulars to overcome the host in its wandering stride which overwhelmed the party on the 6th instant.

Some years ago the editor of this paper talked with and urged the leaders of the general assembly to pass a law allowing all who would promise to support the nominees of the primary the right to vote in said primary. If a voter will say he will support the nominees of the primary election in which he participates, that should be sufficient.

What will be done about it? The law is plain that no one who did not vote for "all the nominees of the party in the preceding general election" cannot vote in the primary without violating the law.

Virginia Democrats will not give up the primary for the convention system, which is usually composed of hand-picked delegates. The rank and file might, under all the circumstances stand party a chance to have remedial legislation and repeal the bad law which, if enforced will ruin the party.

There should never be any nomination for county officers in any event. It is a waste of the people's money—costing the taxpayers of this county approximately $1000 for each election.

Let the conscientious voter come back to the fold and help in every way to have the affairs of State and County fairly and economically administered.

The Roanoke Game

The largest crowd ever to attend a football game in Roanoke will gather on Thanksgiving Day for the Annual Football Classic of the South between Virginia Polytechnic Institute and Virginia Military Institute, according to present indications. It is estimated that approximately 20,000 football fans will attend the game. Military pageants, parades, dances and band concerts will make a full program for the day.

Elaborate plans are being made by the Norfolk and Western Ry. to take care of passenger traffic into and out of Roanoke during the holidays, it is announced. Special trains, regular trains with second sections and extra coaches attached to regular trains will be run. Round-trip $4.15 from Appomattox.

Chevrolet Leadership

Record crowds, highly enthusiastic over Motordom's newest automobile, viewed the new line of Chevrolet six cylinder value-in-head cars at the national premiere last week in New York and Detroit.

Thousands that crowded Chevrolet's greatest achievement—"a six in the price range of the four"—enthusiastic over the streamline beauty of the new Fisher bodies, the latest accomplishment of this famous organization.

Visitors were open in their admiration for the "expensive big-car" appearance of the new model. They were pleased with the smart new colors that will distinguish the new Chevrolet from all others; the elegance of the fittings appealed to the most discriminating and the luxurious upholstery pleased the most exacting of the flannel show-goes.

They inspected the powerful new 45 horse power motor with its non-detonating high compression head. They were particularly interested in learning that it develops 32 per cent more power than its predecessor which was world-famous for power and that its speed and acceleration has been stepped up to satisfy maximum requirements.

This is now the Law as enacted by the last General Assembly. You save considerably by paying your taxes on or before December 5th 1929.

Size and Efficiency

In airplanes, increase in size does not mean relative efficiency. The weight load that a plane can sustain in proportion to its weight is less as the size of the plane increases. The reason is a decrease in the amount of horsepower required for each passenger.

RUSS OFFICER ONLY NAME TO FOOT CZAR

Berlin, Nov. 28.—Among the strange stories being told out of the archives of the Russian Empire is one concerning a group of officers. This tale, as given by the German press, runs as follows:

"One day Paul Paul was awakened from his midday sleep by a loud cry for help outside his door. He hastily opened his door to give him the name of the wretch who had dared interrupt the imperial nap. The adjutant was in a pickle for a moment, but a happy thought saved the day. He answered calmly that the offender was 'Lieut. As Well As'."

"Now this 'Lieut. As Well As' and the name of his regiment, thanks to the mistake of a clerk who, in copying the names of Lieutenants Petroff, Semionoff, as well as Ivanoff, had in error written 'As Well As' in capitals. When the mistake was discovered it was too late to make a correction, as the order was about to be submitted to the war for his signature. Consequently the regimental commander decided to enter 'Lieut. As Well As' on the rolls, so that the war would have no occasion to reproach him for the mistake."

"This was the name of the officer named by the adjutant as the distributor of Paul's slippers. The traitor ruler ordered the offender to be sent to Siberia at once on foot and added a penalty of 100 lashes for good measure. There was nothing else to do but to continue the game. An escort of four soldiers was sent to Siberia and from every important stage of the route reports were dispatched to the czar telling of the 'Victory' hand-slaps."

Remembers Victim. "About two years later the czar suddenly recollected the case of the exiled officer, and in a moment of magnanimity, pardoned him. From then on Paul kept 'Lieut. As Well As' in mind. Soon he made him a major and a few months later a general. Then the affair began to get sticky, and the czar pressed a desire personally to meet his entourage. As the members of the entourage dared not ask anyone to play the part of 'Gen. As Well As', the czar was informed that the general was suffering from a serious illness, and a few days later it was announced that the valiant warrior had died. 'Gen. As Well As' was buried with full military honors. The whole regiment escorted the empty coffin to the grave; every detail was carefully observed and the name of the general was entered upon the list of dead dignitaries."

Private Citizens Aid

Migratory Bird Survey

Wash. State, S. C.—How the United States Department of Agriculture is aided by private citizens in obtaining data on the habits and the numbers of migratory birds was revealed here by W. T. Oriskany. Capturing a chimney swift (Oriskany) found it carried an aluminum tag sent the numbers to the Bureau of Biological Survey, which informed him that his bird was numbered 111. (Oriskany and L. L. Stoddard, the information received by the bird's tag, the bureau said, will be valuable in the study of bird life in America.)

South China Aspires

To Economic Rebirth

Canlon, China.—"Trade revival and promotion of native industries," is the slogan of South China merchants, who are seeking to stage a comeback from the lean times experienced during the last year. Cooperation with the government to eliminate communism, harmonious relations with labor, eliminate the foreign middlemen with Chinese and still other phrases are being passed about both sides of the province and throughout the province of Kwangtung as Canton's merchant princes seek a trade revival and the prosperity that has not been Canton's for years. At a conference of delegates from provincial chambers of commerce, held here and attended by 300 representatives from all parts of the province, appeals were made for unified efforts toward a general trade revival.

Gambling War Disturbs

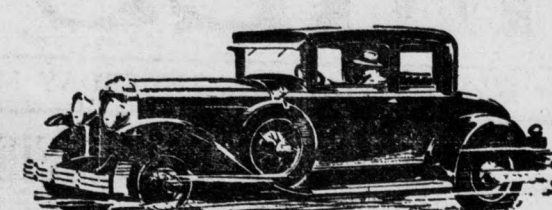

Monacans and Riviera

Canon, France.—The battle between Riviera casino interests and the world-famous Monte Carlo casino has now turned into a picture contest, with the general public enjoying itself and the police having difficulty keeping the sidewalks free of the kind and bitter posters which appear during the night.

Both sides have also resorted to subsidizing papers and weekly magazines to back them. Monte Carlo is working to obtain an extension of its agreement with the French government whereby roulette will not be permitted in France. The present agreement expires in 1931.

Know No Sea Serpents

The existence of sea serpents is a confirmed by official records of the Coast and Geodetic survey, covering the 113 years of its existence, according to information given in a letter which has been sent by the survey to response to an inquiry for photographs of sea serpents.
